

Policy

Arla Plast is one of Europe's largest producers of thermoplastic extruded sheet material. Sheets are produced mainly from PC, PET and ABS, but also blends and co-extrusions from these materials.

Arla Plast will produce and deliver products that fulfil the demand and expectations from our customers in terms of flexibility, function, technical quality, delivery time, service and price. The company shall aim for a good internal working environment and to minimize effects on the global environment.

We will achieve this by:

- Working target-oriented and systematically by continuously progressing in quality, work environment, global environment awareness and fire prevention improvements.
- Following applicable legislation and demands from public authority as a minimum.
- We shall consider aspects of quality, work environment and global environment in our production, development of new methods and investments. The substitution principle should apply. This means that environmentally superior technologies and/or raw materials/chemicals replace old technology and environmentally hazardous substances.
- All of our employees being aware and involved in their work concerning quality, work environment and global environment. This will be done via discussions, information, training and an active participation in the quality and environmental work.
- Having an open and constructive communication with customers, suppliers, authorities and others regarding quality, work environment, global environment and fire prevention improvements.
- Arla Plast will contribute to an increased recycling system policy by striving for an increased use of recycled plastic materials. Waste must be handled in accordance to the waste hierarchy.
- Work environment should be a natural part of the daily work. Introduction and training is provided to all employees for the work to be performed safely. Incidents and accidents are reported so that they can be investigated and action taken.
- Arla Plast will work actively with personnel-related issues, not accepting any form of violation due to employee's or customers' gender, ethnicity, religion or sexual orientation or the like.

Johan Orrenius

Managing Director